

THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

Faculty of Education

Department of Educational Psychology

Edward S. Ross School

1. The first part of the assignment is to read the article and identify the main points. This is to be done in a group of four or five students. Each student should be responsible for one of the main points and should be prepared to discuss it with the group. The second part of the assignment is to write a paper in which you discuss the main points of the article and your own views on the issues raised. This paper should be written individually and should be at least 1000 words in length. The final part of the assignment is to present your paper to the class. This should be done in a group of four or five students. Each student should be responsible for one of the main points and should be prepared to discuss it with the class.

2. The second part of the assignment is to write a paper in which you discuss the main points of the article and your own views on the issues raised. This paper should be written individually and should be at least 1000 words in length. The final part of the assignment is to present your paper to the class. This should be done in a group of four or five students. Each student should be responsible for one of the main points and should be prepared to discuss it with the class.

3. The third part of the assignment is to present your paper to the class. This should be done in a group of four or five students. Each student should be responsible for one of the main points and should be prepared to discuss it with the class.

4. The fourth part of the assignment is to discuss the main points of the article and your own views on the issues raised. This should be done in a group of four or five students. Each student should be responsible for one of the main points and should be prepared to discuss it with the class.

5. The fifth part of the assignment is to write a paper in which you discuss the main points of the article and your own views on the issues raised. This paper should be written individually and should be at least 1000 words in length. The final part of the assignment is to present your paper to the class. This should be done in a group of four or five students. Each student should be responsible for one of the main points and should be prepared to discuss it with the class.

6. The sixth part of the assignment is to present your paper to the class. This should be done in a group of four or five students. Each student should be responsible for one of the main points and should be prepared to discuss it with the class.

7. The seventh part of the assignment is to discuss the main points of the article and your own views on the issues raised. This should be done in a group of four or five students. Each student should be responsible for one of the main points and should be prepared to discuss it with the class.